

The ABC of Good Chemistry.

AECI has been an integral part of the South African economy since 1896. Through employment equity, skills development, preferential procurement, corporate social investment and enterprise development, we have been a significant contributor to B-BBEE and have established a strong framework for future initiatives. Today, we are proud to announce a black ownership transaction in excess of 27%, involving our long-term business partners, Kagiso Tiso Holdings, and every one of our permanent South African employees. We have also established a community share trust, supporting the improvement of Maths and Science education in the areas where we operate.

This comprehensive and sustainable approach to the ABCs of B-BBEE demonstrates our enduring commitment to uplifting the lives of all South Africans by fulfilling the promise of Good Chemistry in everything we do.
